

Photosynthesis is the process by which green plants and certain other organisms use sunlight to synthesize foods w